21 Organizations To Vie Tomorrow For Derby Crown

Nine sororities and 12 fraternities will compete in the annual Lambda Chi Alpha Push Cart Derby at 2 p.m. tomorrow in front of the Administration Building.

Derby activity will begin with a parade of floats forming in fraternity row at 1 p.m. The parade will proceed down Rose Street to Euclid Avenue, up Euclid to Limestone Street, and will end in front of the Administration Building.

The fraternity race will begin at the Administration Building, race down the drive to Limestone Street, up Limestone and back to the finish line on the Administration Building drive.

The sorority race will begin on Limestone Street and end in front of the Administration Building.

The fraternities will compete in three preliminary heats and the sororities will race in two. The winners of the heats will compete in the finals.

Trophies will be presented to the winning teams in both the fraternity and sorority divisions.

The Push Cart Derby Queen will be crowned between the running of the preliminary heats and the final races. Voting for the queen is being held in the SUB ticket booth.

Trophies for the best floats will also be presented.

Triangle fraternity won last year's fraternity competition. Zeta Tau Alpha won the sorority division.

The queen contestants and their sponsors are Marilyn Starzyk, Zeta Tau Alpha; Janet Lloyd, Kappa Delta; Nancy Vaughn, Chi Omega; Kitty Hundley, Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Patricia Rouse, Delta Zeta; Carolyn Mansfield, Delta Delta Delta; Jackie Cain, Alpha Delta Pi; Stephanie Patty, Kappa Alpha Theta; Cookie Leet, Alpha Gamma Delta.

Betsy O'Roark, Pi Kappa Alpha; Carroll Baldwin, Phi Gamma Delta; Lana Coyle, Farmhouse; Pixie Priest, Kappa Alpha; Nancy McClure, Kappa Sigma; Ann Bell, Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Barbara Hitt, Sigma Nu; Ann Evans, Phi Kappa Tau; Sue Miller, Delta Tau Delta; and Julie Nobles, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Dates Set For Registering To Take P.E. Bypass Test

Students may sign up April 24 to May 3 for proficiency tests to bypass physical education requirements, Dr. Don Cash Seaton, head of the physical education department, announced yesterday.

All students who will not have completed their physical education requirements at the end of this semester are eligible to take the tests. They may sign up in Room 3 of the Alumni Gym from 8:30 a.m. to 12 noon and 1:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Only those students who sign up will be permitted to take the proficiency tests, according to Dr. Seaton.

The two tests, sports-skills and physical fitness, including swimming, will be given May 8-13. A detailed schedule of exact times and places of the tests will be announced before May 8.

Tau Sigma To Perform Next Week

Tau Sigma, UK modern dance group, will give its spring concert at 8:15 p.m. Monday and Tuesday in the Euclid Avenue Building auditorium.

Dancers will present in seven acts a history of dancing from Greek to modern.

Early dance forms will include such forerunners of modern classical ballet as a Grecian religious dance, with choreography by Sidney Hays; and a preclassic form arranged by Martha Keffer.

An interpretation of T. S. Eliot's poem, "The Hollow Men," will represent the modern or creative form. The dance will be accompanied by reading of the poem.

Choreographer of the poem interpretation is Carol Koenig.

The First Rose Of Spring

Spring brings roses and sweethearts—and the Kernel has both already. Our sweetheart is Sue Kay Miller from Harned. Sue, who lives in Boyd Hall, is a freshman majoring in commerce. As for the rose—well, we can't say anything about it, for there's a law against picking them in certain places, you know.

Ag College Sponsoring Career Day

The third annual Career Opportunities Day sponsored by the College of Agriculture and Home Economics is being held today for an expected 300 high school students.

The program, based on the theme "Horizons in Science, Technology, and Business," is designed to show careers available for students who major in agriculture and home economics.

Thirty-five areas of work will be displayed.

The agricultural engineering department will take part in the program this year with an exhibit showing scientific advancements in agriculture.

Guided tours are being conducted until 10:30 a.m. when there will be an informal discussion on "Planning For College" for parents, teachers, and agents in Erikson Hall.

Preadvising Set Monday --- Maybe

Preclassification—or preregistration—or preadvising—or whatever the current title under which the program is masquerading—is scheduled to begin Monday.

There is just one hitch.

Nobody knows anything.

Dr. Charles Elton, dean of admissions and registrar, is out of town.

Employees in his office said yesterday that they had no information on the subject.

"The deans of the colleges have the information," an office worker said.

Not so.

A check with deans' secretaries revealed that none knew anything more than was reported by the Kernel in January.

At that time, Dean Elton said the process would begin April 24. Registration cards and college schedules would be furnished advisers for distribution to students, the dean was quoted as saying.

No advisers were located who had received any material.

Coeds Will Discuss Discipline Tomorrow

A three-hour conference tomorrow in the Music Room of the Student Union Building will explain the philosophy behind the discipline used in the women's housing units, Miss Dixie Evans, director of the units, said yesterday.

Members of the governing councils for the residence halls and sororities will take part in the program which will begin at 1 p.m.

Miss Evans said the first part of the program will be devoted to explaining the philosophy and why it is used on this campus.

The Boyd Hall governing council will demonstrate the technique and the ways of handling the problems in a mock counseling session during the second part of the conference.

Miss Evans said this will give the women a chance to actually practice and participate.

The emphasis is on helping the person know what she has done wrong," the director said in defining the philosophy, "not in slapping on predetermined punitive actions."

Miss Evans further explained the counseling method as the approach to changing behavior that is used to some extent in all the women's residence halls.

SC Meeting

The Student Congress will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in a special session in Lafferty Hall. President Garry Sipple said the congress would attempt to determine what can be done about next year's Homecoming.

Profit From Judo Tourney To Help Pay Debt To SC

The profit made from the intercollegiate judo tournament to be held here tomorrow will be used to pay off the AFROTC debt to Student Congress incurred by the Military Ball financial failure two years ago.

Receipts will first be used to pay for the quartering and feeding of each of the competing teams. The remainder of the money will be used to pay off the debt.

Any extra money realized will be used to set up a scholarship fund for UK students.

Col. Roland W. Boughton Jr. said that the Air Force "hopes to establish a new tradition for judo east of the Mississippi in inter-collegiate competition."

There has never been any organized intercollegiate competition in the eastern part of the nation, like there is on the West Coast, Col. Boughton added.

Teams participating in the matches are: Mississippi, Louisiana State, Florida, and Louisville. There are also four tentative and Lloyd Hankins.

teams, Ohio State, The Citadel, and Ohio University.

The tournament will be held in Memorial Coliseum from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m.

Officials for the matches will be A/C La Vern Rabb, third degree black belt and the Pan American unlimited champion, and Lt. John Reding, coach of two national championship teams.

The two men will give self-defense exhibitions.

The AFROTC will award 18 trophies including a team trophy and an outstanding participant award.

Gabbard Named Student Of Month

Ova Gene Gabbard, senior in electrical engineering, has been named Student of the Month for March by the Student Union Board.

He won first prize for a paper on "A Low-Speed Thyatron Counter-Scaler Unit" in the American Institute of Electrical Engineers competition last April at the University of Alabama.

Gabbard's paper was published in Electrical Engineering, a national A.I.E.E. publication, and in the Kentucky Engineer magazine.

Gabbard is a member of Tau Beta Pi, Eta Kappa Nu, and Scabard and Blade. The head resident of Haggan Hall, Gabbard has a 3.6 academic standing.

He is attending the University on a scholarship from the International Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Coed Chorus Finals Will Be Tomorrow

Competing in the All-Campus Sing finals for women's choruses tomorrow will be Alpha Gamma Delta, Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta, and Keeneland Hall.

The finals will be at 7:30 p.m. in Memorial Hall.

The four groups, which will compete for the winner and runner-up trophies, won in the women's semi-finals Wednesday night.

Song leaders for the women finalists are Diane Ross, Alpha Gamma Delta; Deanie Wilson, Chi Omega; Judy Lawrence, Delta Delta Delta; and Sarabel Hieronymus, Keeneland Hall.

The winning groups will perform

Counseling Service Helps Students Help Themselves

By CARL MODECKI
Kernel Staff Writer

Assuming that students want to help themselves, the UK Counseling Service is trying to work itself out of business by helping students.

"There are basically three groups of students who use the Counseling Service," says Dr. George W. Rogers, director of the service.

"Most students come for help with educational plans or skills, but others come because of personal concerns or questions about what they should major in, or what vocation they should enter," he added.

Each semester there are two peak periods for the five staff counselors. The first is about two weeks before and two weeks after mid semester examinations. The second is about two weeks prior to the beginning of examination time.

"Some students think we can give them a test, tell them how to study, or how to think and—presto—they will suddenly make their grades," Dr. Rogers said.

"We don't have a magic formula," he added.

If a student is having difficulties with his studies, he can get aid at the Counseling Service in making up a schedule for better use of his time, in developing his reading skills and study habits, in aiding himself with career planning, and in understanding himself in his relations with others.

A series of tests may be useful in giving the student information about himself in these considerations.

These tests can show his ability to: speed read, pick out the main idea, take notes in class, take examinations, use time efficiently, and use the most effective study habits.

"Of course we can't help a student by ourselves," Dr. Rogers said. "We need the student's understanding of himself and his surroundings, and that is what we work toward."

If a student is in doubt as to what occupational field he might enter, he is referred to places of information about jobs in his fields of interest.

Frequently tests are given which show relatively strong and weak abilities. These are used to aid the student to understand himself. In this respect, the counseling and testing services work together closely.

An additional service of the Counseling Service is that of assisting veterans and war orphans in obtaining educational benefits.

The largest percentage of students who go to the Counseling Service are freshmen and as the number of years in college increases the percentage for that classification decreases.

The Counseling Service serves 500-600 regular clients for two visits a semester, and 200-300 students who come for consultation for only one conference.

10 Coeds Participate In Contest

Ten University women will participate in the Miss Lexington Pageant at 8 p.m. Monday in the Henry Clay High School auditorium.

Mary Ann Mobley, Miss America of 1959, will be mistress of ceremonies.

Proceeds from the pageant will be used by the women's club for charity.

The Lexington winner will represent the city in the Miss Kentucky Pageant.

UK participants are: Cynthia Carroll Baldwin, Tri Delt freshman; Jo Anne Beggs, Kappa Delta junior; Pamela Faris Brown, Tri Delt freshman; Martha Earle Heizer, Kappa Delta junior.

Dinners, Formals Set Scene As Sun Shines In Time

By TONI LENNOS

They're at it again, Baby oil, sea and ski, shades, coke bottles, portable radios . . . the sun came out yesterday; and already standing room only remains on co-ed sun-decks.

Up until this time, the god behind the golden chariot hadn't been very cooperative in helping the maidens to become bronze and beautiful. He seemed to have forgotten the fact that there are eight fraternity and sorority formals this weekend. But, instead of being chalky white, sallow, and unhappy, all now have red raw noses, flushed cheeks, and are very happy.

But, lest we forget, the Lambda Chi Alpha pushcart derby is sliced in somewhere between formals, Saturday afternoon to be exact. Actually, this situation could prove quite impractical. Imagine the strain on the pushcart pushers — those who are "formalizing" tonight may not even make the derby; those who will party tomorrow night may not make the party. After running three laps around the administration building circle, pushing a little metal vehicle with a passenger upon it, no upstanding social newsmaker would think of moving for days.

Tonight the ADPs, Tri Deltas, AGRs, and men of Farmhouse are celebrating each in their own little way.

The ADPs will enjoy their Rhapsody in Blue formal at Lansdowne Country Club. Dick Wallace from Louisville will play; a buffet breakfast will be served following the dance.

The Tri Deltas will go waltzing at Tates Creek Country Club to the music of Tommy Knowles, while Farmhouse takes over the dance. Cecil Jones and company will play.

Spring Valley Country Club will provide the setting for the Alpha Gamma Rho Pink Rose formal. Dinner will be served before the Cecil Jones and company will play.

Not as yet ready to trade Bermuda shorts for cummerbund and tux, the Deltas will watch the moon come up over the water at Boonesboro with a beach party.

The TKEs will pay a visit to Danceland en masse while the Triangles invite all to a jam session at the chapter house.

At the Downtowner, the Fiji men will enjoy their 42nd annual Norris Pig Dinner. Who was Norris? He was the man who ate the pig. (Ah such profundity).

The Baptist Student Union will hold its annual spring banquet at 6 p.m. today in the ballroom of the SUB. The theme of the event is the Civil War.

Tomorrow night will find the KDS, Kappa Sigs, and men of Triangle preparing for their balls.

The KD White Rose formal will be held at Joyland Casino. Mr. Tredall's band from Nashville will play.

The Kappa Sigs will name a sweetheart and man of the year at their Black and White formal at Spring Valley. They'll feast at Adams before the dance and later step lively at the Capris from Knoxville play. They'll round out their weekend by reverting back to normal with a party at Herington Lake Sunday.

The Holiday Inn will house the Triangle formal and the Shades will provide the music.

In the meantime, the ZTAs will be picnicking in Blue Grass Park with their dates; the Phi Deltas will be partying at Ben Crain's farm, (a rather new establishment); and the SAEs and Sigma Chis will be beataking . . . at their separate chapter houses.

Sunday will find the PiKAs conducting the initiation of their Mothers Club.

And on a note of social interest I shall leave you; we must organize a committee to investigate groups.

SC House Cleaning

In line with what appears to be spring house cleaning time for Student Congress, the assembly Monday approved a report calling for revision of wording of several sections of the congress constitution.

Coming before the assembly for changes and modifications were sections involving representation, election of members, and impeachment, and the congress' by-laws.

Although the approval of the report is only the first step in a procedure that requires public notice of any changes in the constitution and a campus vote at least 30 days after notice, it is a step in the right direction.

Wording that defines congress membership as all full-time students in one article and then calls for an assembly with membership paralleling that of the University Faculty in another will be clarified if the report's recommendations are carried out.

Because first-semester freshmen have been elected to the assembly in violation of a section requiring all candidates to have been students here for at least one full semester, amendment or enforcement of the requirement has been suggested.

Provision for hearings for congress members being impeached is not called for in the constitution and such a provision is asked for. The constitution committee also asked that either the finance committee or budget committee be abolished because of an overlapping of functions.

While the committee's recommendations are meritorious, there is a far more pressing and important constitutional change to be made. We refer to the matter of congressional apportionment.

Present Student Congress apportionment is unfair to several colleges.

Arts and Sciences, with 2,300 students enrolled during the fall semester, has 42 representatives while 1,356 students in the College of Engineering have only 10 representatives. The College of Agriculture and Home Economics has a total enrollment of just over 500, yet it outvotes Engineering almost three to one.

There is also no provision for Graduate School representation in the assembly, so graduate students must run for election in the colleges in which they have most of their classes.

We would like to see an apportionment plan based on the present assembly membership of 100 with representation awarded by college enrollment. For instance, there were 7,425 full-time students enrolled here at the main campus last fall. Dividing this number by 100 gives us the base figure of 74. Each college could be awarded one assembly seat for each 74 students enrolled.

Under this plan Arts and Sciences would have 31 representatives, Engineering 18, Agriculture and Home Economics eight, and all other colleges, including Graduate School, would receive increases in representation proportional to their enrollments.

Such a plan should be enacted now while the congress is engaged in its current constitutional cleanup campaign.

Fairer representation would be a bright addition to the congress as it starts work toward seeking solutions for its problems and those of the University.

Views On 'Eich'

To The Editor:

Re Mr. W. F. Renton's letter of April 19:

We wish to thank you, Mr. Renton, for so well expressing the exact views held by those of us who are well developed, both physically and mentally. We feel that you have admirably put your finger on the troublesome area with amazing alacrity. We do think, however, if the model had been a man, Mr. Renton might have thought thrice before criticizing the innocent Miss "Black Bosom," thereby sparing her some deflation . . . of ego.

We would also like to make public recognition of the wonderful efforts of you and your chums towards better world relations. We are aware of your wholehearted endeavors in such worthwhile organizations as the newly formed Peace Corps.

You and your cohorts have proven that you are above the average college student in your comprehension of the situation.

Thank you again for your views on the Eichmann problem.

Humor And Prejudice

"BRIDGEPORT, CONN. NAACP APPEALS FOR HALT TO MINSTRELS" is the headline on a news release we received recently from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The release, dated April 15, reads: "The NAACP here this week appealed for the discontinuance of blackface minstrel shows. Mrs. Harry B. Anderson, president of the Bridgeport-Stratford branch, said the unit's lawyers are checking to see if such shows are covered by state law."

"The NAACP officer said minstrels are usually passed off as harmless entertainment. 'Nevertheless,' Mrs. Anderson added, 'they do play up the handicaps of Negroes. We cannot stand quietly by and see members of minority groups made the butt of crude humor and impossibly overdrawn characterizations.'

"She added that such entertainment can ridicule any group, be it Negro, Italian, Irish, Jewish, or Catholic."

We have observed that the primary goals and the overall attitudes of the NAACP are not objectionable, but we have observed also that this prejudice-fighting group sometimes goes overboard. The above release exemplifies the latter case.

It is true that the humor in blackface minstrel shows is based on exaggeration of human shortcomings, but isn't almost all humor based on the very same thing? Consider the classical humorous situation of a man slipping on a banana peel. Is it objectively funny? No, but we laugh because it is natural for man to laugh at a fellow man in an inferior position. Psychologists have been aware of this for years, ever since they first analyzed the man-slipping-on-a-banana-peel-joke.

The trouble with persons like Mrs. Anderson is that they are taking life too seriously. Enmeshed in their zealous efforts to gain equal rights for minorities, they forget basic psychology and the fact that man is an animal that likes to laugh—in fact, he is the only animal that can laugh.

Mrs. Anderson and her ilk also forget that working-class members of the minorities frequently refer to one another as niggers, wops, kikes, polacks, and the like—all terms that organizations such as the NAACP are trying to stamp out. Furthermore, it is common knowledge among persons who have lived in metropolitan areas that Irish laugh loudest at Irish jokes when they are among fellow Irishmen, that Jews do likewise, and that these people object only when they hear such jokes told by members of a majority group. Their objections are to be expected, of course, for it is as natural to object to being made to feel inferior as it is to laugh at the man who slips on the banana peel.

As long as we are playing amateur psychologist, we might well state another psychological truism: that men automatically respect a person who can laugh at himself. Uplifters of minority groups should keep this in mind, for what would happen if they succeeded in suppressing man's natural sense of humor—if they succeeded in destroying the sense of humor of the majority?

It's horrible to imagine what they would be up against then.

Let's All Listen

The health commissioner of New York City tells of a "drug" which she says could cure half the present cases of cancer if used correctly.

Before you rush for a prescription, read on. The medicine is simply communication. It's not reaching potential effectiveness, says Dr. Leona Baumgartner, because (1) the health professions are not talking loudly and clearly enough and (2) the public isn't listening carefully enough.

Dr. Baumgartner asserts that half of all cases of cancer today can be cured by finding them soon enough and doing for them what is known to be possible. But this "cure" doesn't lend itself to dramatization; there's no magic about it, nothing that can be advertised spectacularly. So the cure is neglected until too late. The same is true she says, in areas such as heart disease, where controls can be established satisfactorily—if undertaken in time.

Reluctance to admit that fear of a disease might be warranted is a head-in-the-sands attitude which stems, we suspect, from recollection of the days when cures were relatively rare and the admission amounted almost to signing one's death warrant. It disregards the great advances in medical science. It ignores the illustration of the fight which has been won against tuberculosis, for example, mainly because the public has been made aware of what can be accomplished by early discovery and treatment. Somehow, the whole lesson hasn't been communicated.

Dr. Baumgartner probably is right in complaining that the health professions haven't done the best possible job of communicating the lesson. We're afraid a greater blame can be laid on the public which refuses to listen and learn.

Training Diplomats

A visiting speaker said the other day we should have an academy for training diplomatic personnel equal in prestige to the service academies.

Perhaps, in view of some rather disturbing world events the past few years, he was unaware that we do have the Foreign Service School operated by the state department. Its mission is to funnel young careerists into consular and diplomatic service.

In the past the Foreign Service School has been criticized as being more concerned about the difference between green tea and ceremonial black tea than ethnic backgrounds of countries to which graduates were assigned.

We still may be short in training comparable to the British civil servant system but the answer lies more in strengthening our present school than starting another.

There are many dedicated persons in our foreign service and only a few who would make better department store floor walkers. It is commendable that President Kennedy, following former President Eisenhower's example, has called upon many career men for important diplomatic posts rather than making political appointments solely.

More UK Students File With Placement Service

More students than ever before are taking advantage of the UK Placement Service, says Mrs. Katherine Kemper, director of the service.

This year many seniors registered with the Placement Service early in the first semester. Many students who usually wait until they have exhausted their own means of finding employment have registered with the service. The employers are being "much more selective this year," Mrs. Kemper said. However many students have already been accepted for employment.

Very few companies cancelled their scheduled interviews because of the recession, however, some companies did reduce the number of employees they were seeking, Mrs. Kemper said.

By the end of the semester, 463 interviews will have been held on campus.

Camp Robinson To Be Site Of Civil Engineering Meet

A civil engineering orientation camp will be held for the second straight year at the University's Camp Robinson in Breathitt County near Jackson.

Students planning to major in civil engineering at UK will have the opportunity to meet staff and faculty members.

These prospective students will receive special instructions in how to study for college, review basic mathematics, and learn how to work simple engineering problems.

Tentative dates for the session are July 10-15, but Prof. Laurence Pendley, acting head of the De-

LKD Qualifying Rounds Carded This Afternoon

Qualification trials for the Little Kentucky Derby bicycle race will be held on the Sports Center track at 3 p.m. today.

Wes Morris, LKD publicity director, said that the purpose of having the trials "is to determine post positions for the preliminary heats for the April 29 Derby and to eliminate one team before Derby day."

Morris explained that 37 teams have applied to enter the Derby, but only 36 positions are open thus necessitating the elimination of one team.

The team posting the worst time in today's trials will automatically be eliminated from the big race.

This year, a trophy will be awarded to the bike team with the fastest qualifying time at the trials.

"Also, the trials will give the riders an opportunity to familiarize themselves with the track and the race," Morris stated.

He predicted that all 37 teams would be going all out this afternoon since the winning team will receive $100 in clothing per man on Derby day.

The winning bike team receives 25 intramural points and the runner-up takes 15. Each team to qualify will be awarded one IM point.

The LKD race course will be the one-quarter mile track at the Sports Center, with preliminary races consisting of 10 laps, or 2½ miles. The winners of the preliminary races will compete in the final race of 15 laps or 3¾ miles.

The teams:

Phi Kappa Tau—Capt. John Mains, Marshall Turner, Tom Scott, Jerry Goode, Roy Blackburn, and Bob Smith.

Sigma Phi Epsilon—Capt. Frank DeSanto, Tom Cooper, Dan Sweeney, Billy Secrest, Ray McLaughlin, and Larry Ledbetter.

Sigma Nu—Capt. Robert Fusco, John Cowgill, Bill Gleason, Mike Lowry, Jim Hardman, and Jerry Orr.

Alpha Tau Omega—Capt. Charles Elmore, Jim Meredith, John Berend, Bob Fusco, Jerry Vandkye, and Ronnie Massie.

Kappa Sigma—Capt. Bob Wainscott, Bobby Meyers, Dick Steckler, Bob Stuckert, Roger Smith, and Rich Requa.

Delta Tau Delta—Capt. Glenn Schmidt, John Burkhardt, Charley Turnbull, Larry Heath, Woody McGraw, and Willy Hylton.

Triangle—Capt. Dave Rhodes, Bob Grimes, Ron Geros, Clarence Barnes, Rodney Brundsen, and Nick Melton.

Kitten Lodge—Capt. Steve McGee, Phil Martin, Ronnie Butler, Elmer Jackson, Shelby Lee, and Darrell Cox.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon—Capt. Jim Trammell, Chad Wright, Tom Brewwald, Buck Teeter, Dave Cline, and Jim May.

Wildcats Coach Lancaster Seeks 100th Win Against Tennessee

DANVILLE, Ky., April 20—Wildcat outfielder Bobby Newsome, who was batting only .212 entering the game, smacked two home runs and drove in three runs to lead Kentucky to a 7-1 victory over Centre here today.

The victory raised Kentucky's season record to 9-5 and gave Coach Harry Lancaster his 99th win over a 12-year period. The 100th victory could come today in a Southeastern Conference game against Tennessee.

Newsome, who also had a single, hit a bases empty homer in the seventh inning and a two-run home run in the eighth to pace the Wildcats to their 16th consecutive conquest of Commonwealth foes.

Bob Bondor, the third of five pitchers used by Lancaster, picked up the win—his second of the year against one loss. Freshman Mel Boland was the loser.

tucky were Capt. Dick Parsons a crucial one because it could make or break the Cats' SEC chances.

A three-game sweep could possibly give the Wildcats the lead in the Eastern Division. Auburn now leads the race with an 8-4 record while Georgia and Florida, both with 7-5 marks, are tied for second place. Kentucky has a 3-3 league record.

IM Track Meet Starts Monday

Qualifying events for the intramural track meet will be held Monday with the final round set for Tuesday.

Changes in entries by intramural managers will be accepted until 4 p.m. Monday. Both the qualifications and the finals will be staged at 4 p.m.

A trophy will be awarded to the team amassing the most points based on five points for the winner in each event, three points for the runnerup, and one point for a third-place finish. One point will also be awarded for each man who qualifies.

Relay scoring is on a 8-4-1-1 basis.

Fitz's Facts

By John Fitzwater

For the four years I have been at the University, I have heard older students complain, "this school destroys tradition."

Usually I get a kick out of such a remark, especially when persons are referring to holidays or parties, but now it seems that I, too, am jumping on the bandwagon to save tradition, if you can call it that.

Homecoming is something every college has no matter how big or small. Many small schools which do not even have football teams hold their homecoming weekend during basketball season or in the spring, but these schools at least set homecoming when the students are on campus.

Many Kentucky students live miles away and for them the Thanksgiving holiday is their first chance to go home in the fall.

Alumni and interested fans find Thanksgiving a good opportunity to put the kids and the family dog in the car and take off to grandmother's for turkey and the trimmings.

This year, the Athletic Department has found itself with a homecoming problem. Kentucky meets arch-rival Tennessee on Stoll Field Nov. 25, two days after Thanksgiving and midway through a four-day holiday.

It is policy to allow the Alumni Association to set the homecoming game and it has been policy to make the game a Southeastern Conference battle.

On the 1961 card, UK has Mississippi as the only other home conference clash and that game falls on Sept. 30.

Of course, the University calendar is set far in advance by a committee interested in the students, but I feel that when a situation such as this arises, steps should be taken to correct it.

What would be wrong with making arrangements with the Tennessee officials and making the annual clash a Thanksgiving affair, thus allowing students to see the game and still have a three-day vacation? This would also allow members of the football team to have a few days vacation after three hard months of football.

From this angle, it looks as if the Athletic Department would also favor this solution. Many people would be off work Thanksgiving Day and would be able to attend the game, thus giving the department added revenue.

Each year the Little Kentucky Derby seems to grow larger in scope and this year Chairman Dick Lowe has gone all out to present the finest ever. One of the highlights of the weekend will be a Saturday morning Turtle Derby in front of the Student Union Building.

Spring Sports Squads Seek Five Victories This Weekend

Kentucky spring sports teams will go after five victories this weekend and hopes are that the weather man will be smiling on the Central Kentucky area as four contests are scheduled for Lexington and the fifth in Danville.

Off to one of its best starts in years, the Kentucky tennis team of Coach Ballard Moore will be gunning for victories No. 9 and 10 of the season as it goes against Xavier and Centre.

The 1960 Cats topped both teams and neither has been able to stand up against Kentucky in the history of meetings between the two

Scrimmage Set For Footballers

Tomorrow afternoon Coach Blanton Collier will put his football charges through a full-scale scrimmage at the Sports Center for the first time this spring.

All eyes will be on the quarterback slot as Collier is expected to pit red-shirt sophomore Pat Counts against veteran Jerry Woolum.

Persons who view the clash will get their first chance to see the two quarterbacks in action since the 1959 freshman season, when they worked together as Kittens.

Observers feel that the 5-11, 180-pound Counts has an outside chance of seeing plenty of action in the fall, and Collier will be taking a very close look from several angles.

UK coaches have had much praise for vets Tom Hutchinson, Dave Gash, and Irv Goode after seven spring sessions. Collier has also been quick to point out that Wayne Dixon, Howard Dunnebacke, Herb Conley, and Gary Cochran have been doing fine jobs.

Monday, Collier and the Cats were washed out of practice, but rebounded to turn in hard days on Tuesday and Wednesday. The Kentucky coach will put his team through drills again this afternoon in preparing for the scrimmage tomorrow.

schools. Xavier's net record against Kentucky is 5-20 and Centre has a 9-13 mark. UK will play Xavier in Danville.

Wednesday the Cats upped their spring mark to 8-1 by blasting the Georgetown Tigers.

Playing their usual singles positions will be Charles Daus, No. 1, Don Sebolt, No. 2, Dave Braun No. 3, Don Dreyfuss, No. 4, Billy Bob Dailey, No. 5, and Tony Mann, No. 6.

Coach Leslie Martin's golf team will be striving to build its season record to 5-2-1 at the expense of Xavier and Vanderbilt on the Idle Hour course.

UK linksmen hold an all-time 26-4 edge over Muskie putters, Tennessee. Kentucky nipped the Vols, 76-60, and Vanderbilt lowered the boom, 99-37.

The UK varsity thinlies, led by versatile Tom Hutchinson, have a 3-0 dual meet mark. The frosh track squad is 1-1, but have been able to win only 12 in 30 tries against Vandy. The

Swift Picked By National Organizations

Dr. Roy E. Swift, UK professor of metallurgy, has been named to committees of two national organizations.

The American Society for Metals tapped him for a three year term to its committee on technical publications. This committee selects the technical articles to be presented at professional meetings and published in trade publications.

He also was appointed by Alpha Sigma Nu, national metallurgical honorary, to be chairman of its eligible schools committee. This group ascertains which American universities are eligible for membership in the organization.

Math Group Will Meet

Some 100 members of Mu Alpha Theta, international mathematics honorary society for outstanding high school and junior college students, are expected here tomorrow for a regional meeting.

Dr. J. C. Eaves, head of the Department of Mathematics and Astronomy and president of the organization, said representatives from about 12 Kentucky high schools will be present. There are no junior college chapters in the state.

When you see this sign there's just one thing to do — turn around and take a new route. If you've reached a dead end in planning your career, maybe you should do the same.
